

WE CLAIM:

1. An electronic musical performance instrument comprising:

5 a musical instrument input interface manipulation by a human operator integral with;
 electronic circuitry for monitoring the input keys for input by the human operator; and integral with a central processing unit running an 10 operating system capable of running alternative sound synthesis software packages to generate sound signals from the input from the human operator's manipulation input to the musical instrument interface.